Stage with actors and actresses of Pickles Company

ROANNE- The theatre company which is called "Pickles Company" is from Belgium. The actors and actresses come from there and they travel through all Europe to create interaction with students and help them to improve their English.

The actors and actresses perform many shows and propose workshops to students to develop their creativity and be more confident. Theatre is more than acting, it's also comedy, action, songs and fun.

On Tuesday the 13th January, Matthew Benin, Nicole Rodgers and Kendall Mason performed in front of the students of Carnot High School. They were immersed in English for 100 minutes. To make them understand, the actors/actresses had to speak clearly and repeat their lines.

The advantages are that students can really improve their English while enjoying themselves and the actors try their best not to make the language a barrier.

This company does everything they can to make the show possible by adapting themselves to the school facilities. It's really worth seeing.! After the show, many people were impressed by their talent.
