

THEATRE PLAY IN CARNOT

On Tuesday, February 11th, Pickles company performed a play entitled Playground for students. The plot is about two best friends named Nora and Grace that move to London. In this play, we follow their adventures and the problems that will affect their friendship.

In this play, I found many positive points. I liked the deep and strong relationship between the two girls that goes beyond the problems that they meet. The story shows problems that we can have in real life, like with Nora's father, so I find this plot very realistic. I really liked the personality of the two girls that follow and pursue their dreams. The costumes and props were simple and matched very well their personality, Grace, the actress and Nora the scientific student. The way the actor and the actresses included the audience makes the play more immersive. The songs they played too. I found the talent of the third actor (the narrator) impressive, when he switched all his roles. We saw when he changed character thanks to his costumes, accessories and his acting.

But, I would've enjoyed more the show if there were more actors to play all the roles the narrator played. I didn't like that much his acting too, I think he overplayed a bit sometimes. It could have been better if they played more song. I found the setting a bit too simple. And I think the story is too childish and simple too. I expected more.

This theatre play shows the importance of perseverance, to follow our dreams and to stay close to our friends even if we meet some problems.
